

“It’s Pollination Time,” Version 1

(sung to the tune of “The Farmer in the Dell”)

It’s pollination time.

It’s pollination time.

Heigh ho, the bees all know,

It’s pollination time.

The bees all leave their hive and busily they go

Buzzing to the garden to help the flowers grow.

Black and yellow bees spot flowers and they land

Gently slurping nectar from every part they can.

A sticky pollen spot, a sticky pollen spot:

The bee’s hairy body is caked from bottom to top.

The bees leave hungrily, the hungry bees they leave.

Those bees wildly zig and zag to every flower they see.

It’s pollination time.

It’s pollination time.

Heigh ho, the bees all know,

It’s pollination time.

Written by Julia Handelman for EL Education.